Report outs from Focus Groups: Initial draft recommendations

Focus Group leaders shared their initial draft recommendations. The group discussed, asked questions, and identified terms that needed to be better defined. Documentation of the recommendations and points of discussion will be shared with Working Group Members.

Summary

The group discussed the overall set of recommendations, noting that there was significant overlap across groups, a positive sign that the focus groups are not heading in too many disparate directions. There was also a discussion about what metrics could be used to measure success of the Working Group's recommendations.

Next steps

The facilitators reminded the group that revised recommendations are due on November 8, and discussed the goals for the November 16 Meeting.

The next Connect to the Future Working Group Meeting will be November 19, 2019.
